

ALUMINUM | TRUCK CAPS THAT WORK.

COMMERCIAL | THE RIGHT CAP TO GET THE JOB DONE.

At Century, our commercial-grade aluminum truck caps offer more. You get the best look and functional standard features at affordable prices. Century's commercial caps come with a full roof cage and two extra bows, .030 smooth metal (.040 optional) with .080 base rail (thickest in the industry) made with tube and flange construction plus additional bracing in the corners for superior strength, and all-welded frames. Commercial aluminum caps are available in the standard 23" height or optional 29" for additional cargo space. Other standards include a black folding "T" handle with 3-point locking system and a black cargo "L" handle in the rear door (doors feature gas props for better control). Available in black or white standard, or custom painted to match your truck as an option.

Some photography may show optional equipment available at an additional cost.

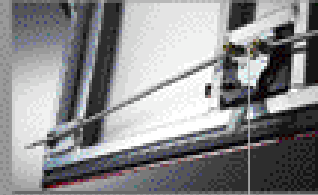

Heavy-duty back door gussets are welded in giving your cap added strength where it's needed most. Over built for the price has long been Century's reputation.

Century's .063 aluminum tool boxes, the strongest in the business, are welded together and to the main structure of the cap. Lesser brands simply use rivets or bolts.

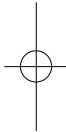

Industrial grade folding T-grip handles are equipped with one turn 3-point security latches. There is no better way to secure your equipment.

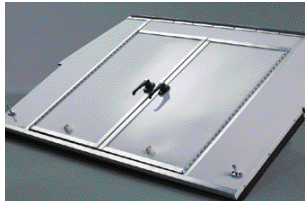

Century's custom roof rack option is durable and features roller bars for easy loading and unloading.

COMMERCIAL | PROOF THEY'RE RUGGED

Century's commercial units are shown on the cover, inside pages and to the right. The aluminum truck caps shown below are non-commercial. They're priced right without giving up the quality construction a Century cap is known for. At Century, we've been designing and building truck caps that fit your style for over 35 years. And a national network of proud Century dealers (over 400 from coast-to-coast) stands ready to serve. See your authorized Century truck cap dealer for more details or visit our Web site today.

- 1. Heavy-duty base rails are the heaviest in the industry.
- 2. Base rails are welded to sidewalls, not simply screwed on from the outside.
- 3. Strong uphill welds are used on front, sides and back.
- 4. A 1-1/2" tube is utilized in all mitered back door caps.
- 5. Front-to-back roof cage system is optional as shown.
- 6. Tube and flange construction w/extra tubing in corners.
- 7. Heavy-duty back door gussets add more strength where it is needed most.
- 8. 15" side windows for improved visibility and safety.

Some items are optional features. Consult your Century dealer for details.
